SUMMARY OF NOTABLE INCIDENTS

Customer Trouble

On September 16th officers were dispatched to the Ollies Discount Bargain Store for a report of two customers arguing. Upon arrival, the officers learned that the customers both believed that they were next in line and that the other customer had cut ahead. A review of the security camera and an interview with the cashiers vindicated the one customer and the other was advised by management that he is no longer welcome in the store and that if he returns that he would be arrested for trespassing.

Identity Theft

On September 16th an officer was dispatched to the Jamestown apartment complex for a report of an identity theft. Upon arrival the officer learned from the victim that an unknown person had opened several credit card accounts in the victim's name. The victim was able to cancel the accounts and is not out any money.
