

Uniting the Farmington/Farmington Hills communities.

Farmington/Farmington Hills
Multicultural Multiracial Community Council presents its

12th Annual Heritage Week October 16-22, 2011

Details about all events are available by calling
MCMR at 248.871.2512.

Schedule of Events

Wednesday, October 19

International Coffee House

6 - 9 p.m.

Longacre House - 24705 Farmington Road,
Farmington Hills

FREE! Sponsored by Mentobe Coffee House located in downtown Farmington. International coffee, tea and sweets available to purchase.

Rosie Chapman aka Miz Rosie The Storyteller brings an interactive storytelling performance alive with stories accompanied by African instruments. Participate in a lively fun-filled evening for all ages. The East Middle School Choir and the Harrison Dance Troupe will also be performing.

Thursday, October 20

"Major Pettigrew's Last Stand"

Book Discussion

7 p.m.

Farmington Community Library,
32737 W. 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills,
Conference Room A

FREE! A retired British officer tentatively courts a charming local widow of Pakistani descent. In a novel described as "unexpectedly entertaining," the author, Helen Simonson, "does not shy away from modern cultural and religious issues."

Friday, October 21

"Engaging Suburban Students in Dialogues on Diversity" Student Panel Luncheon

12 - 1:30 p.m.

Oakland Community College
27065 Orchard Lake Road,
Farmington Hills - Room J306

Cost $10. Entertainment at the Luncheon will be provided by Brandon Grant,
a senior honor student at North Farmington High School.
Brandon is the leader of a Jazz Trio which has won numerous awards in the music field. They recently performed in the Detroit International Jazz Festival and recorded a jazz single CD.

Farmington/Farmington Hills Multicultural Multiracial Community Council
presents its 12th Annual Heritage Week, October 16 - 22, 2011
"Tour the World in Your Hometown"

On October 16 - 22, 2010, the Farmington/Farmington Hills Multicultural Multiracial Community Council (MCMR) will host the community's 12th annual Heritage Week.

The goal of Heritage Week is to unite the community by exploring all backgrounds – from historical inhabitants to the current residents who comprise the many cultures which are the fabric of Farmington and Farmington Hills. In a world too frequently divided by our differences, it is also the continuous goal of MCMR to highlight the commonalities of all residents.

Please join MCMR October 16 – 22 to share your background and learn about those of others. The year's schedule includes the following events:

Wednesday
October 19
6 - 9 p.m.

International Coffee House
Longacre House, 24705 Farmington Road, Farmington Hills
FREE!

Sponsored by Mentobe Coffee House located in downtown Farmington. International coffee, tea and sweets available to purchase. Rosie Chapman aka Miz Rosie The Storyteller brings an interactive storytelling performance alive with stories accompanied by African instruments. Participate in a lively fun-filled evening for all ages. The East Middle School Choir and the Harrison Dance Troupe will also be performing.

Thursday,
October 20
7 p.m.

"Major Pettigrew's Last Stand" Book Discussion
Farmington Community Library, 32737 W. 12 Mile Road, Farmington Hills, -
Conference Room A
FREE!

A retired British officer tentatively courts a charming local widow of Pakistani descent. In a novel described as "unexpectedly entertaining," the author, Helen Simonson, "does not shy away from modern cultural and religious issues."

Friday,
October 21
12 - 1:30 p.m.

"Engaging Suburban Students in Dialogues on Diversity" Student Panel Luncheon
Oakland Community College - 27065 Orchard Lake Road,
Farmington Hills - Room J306

Entertainment at the Luncheon will be provided by Brandon Grant, a senior honor student at North Farmington High School. Brandon is the leader of a Jazz Trio which has won numerous awards in the music field. They recently performed in the Detroit International Jazz Festival and recorded a jazz single CD.

Details about all events are available by calling MCMR at 248.871.2512.